NIWeek - Here We Come!

Learn about our three exhibits featuring new products and platforms from Bloomy and NI, four technical sessions, an engineering impact award nomination, and a yo-yo contest.

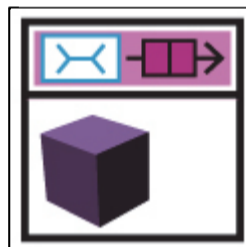

New CompactUTS Online Configurator

Improve quality and reliability of your benchtop PCBA functional tests. Use this new online tool to customize your CompactUTS, obtain pricing, and request a quote.

Making an Impact

"BMS HIL Test System Helps Jaguar Land Rover Shorten Time to Market for Hybrid and Electric Vehicles", jointly submitted by Bloomy, and JLR, is a finalist in the 2016 NI Engineering Impact Community Choice Awards. Cast your vote!

Object-Oriented Programming in LabVIEW - Part 2

In part 2 of this 3-part blog series, we take an in-depth look into encapsulation, a founding principle of object-oriented programming that gives the developer the power to define how software gets used.

Benefits of Open HIL Systems

Download "An Open Systems Architecture Approach to BMS HIL Testing" presented by Peter Blume at the recent Advanced Automotive Battery Conference (AABC) held last month in Detroit, MI.

Attend NIWeek!

NIWeek is the most exhilarating test and measurement industry show of the year, action-packed full of mesmerizing keynote presentations, informative technical sessions, hands-on workshops, expert panel discussions, a lively expo hall, and pub-crawling fun!
